

What do YOU think?

Poverty tourism: the new African zoo

"There must be a politician behind this. The donor tap is drying up so you have to find another way to milk those poor bastards. If it ain't a politician, then what kind of sicko thinks we should be selling people living in shit? Would be curious to hear what others think..." - Sukuma Kenya

Kibera Slum Tour Nairobi

Our Kibera-based, Dutch-Kenyan organisation "Kibera Tours" would like to welcome you to a tour in Kibera, the biggest slum of East-Africa. Our guides Martin and Freddy, born and living in Kibera, would like to show you the daily life in their 'city of hope'. See the ways the people of Kibera improve their lives. Become inspired by their resilience and friendliness.

You 'll experience that the people of Kibera will certainly make you feel welcome. A security-guard, well-known in Kibera, will come on the tour to make you feel even more safe.

What we will visit

an orphanage/school built by 'mama Tunza'. Meet this impressive woman and look at her work in the childrens home. View a video a bead factory: in Kibera everything is being reused and so are also the bones from the butcher. See how these bones turn into beads;

a typical Kibera-house. Feel welcome in one of the houses in Kibera and ask your questions about the day-to-day live in Kibera;

the biogas center: a fantastic view over Kibera and picture-point. You can see that also human waste is not wasted here;

And much more...

Costs: 2500 Ksh p.p.

By joining you will support the people of Kibera. The tour provides local employment, and the profits will be used directly for projects to improve the lives of the people of Kibera.

Details -- Our Kibera tour will start from Adams Arcade (Java Coffee House) and will cost only 2500 Ksh per person. This will include a short walk over the Toi-market, the biggest second-hand market in Nairobi;

We can also organise the transport to Kibera from your hotel and back at extra costs (depending on the number of people).

You can join the tour in the morning or in the afternoon. It will take about 3 to 4 hours, including a 2-3 hour walk;

You'll join the tour in a small group (max. 6 persons)

Our guides and safety guards are very well-known in Kibera and are even born and living in Kibera;

Restricted-picture policy: Pictures are allowed at dedicated places after permission of the guides;

If you have wishes regarding places to visit, please feel free to ask us for a custom-made tour.

Our tours are recommended by Sawadee and S4L (dutch tour groups).
